Introduction

It’s time to wake up, yes wake up, have you looked at the world and asked yourself where do I fit in, where do I belong and what is my purpose, after all, what is life without purpose, in a nutshell, it’s nothing, have you found that purpose yet? Life is so precious; we all get one life to live and we must make that life count. But how do we live that life? Do we make it all about ourselves; do we make it about something else or someone else? Do you find that as you go on there are more questions than answers and at times it feels like you will never find the answer? Why are those answers so hard to come by? Why? They are hard to come by because your life has no true purpose. If you want to find your true purpose keep reading if not please stop, what's contained in this book is for serious people who not only want true purpose, but the purpose that will change their lives and the lives of everything they come into contact with. Remember, we are not islands, we cannot exist as islands, we need to make contact, we need to communicate, and we need live and not merely exist. How many of us just exist, we wake we go to work, we get home, we eat, watch TV and then we go to sleep. If you had to look at your life would you say you are living, making the most of life or are you just existing because it’s all you can do to survive? Ever heard the saying its survival of the fittest. Believe me that saying is true in ways you cannot imagine. Who does truly survive? Let’s look at nature who survives better animals that are in packs, pride, and schools or solitary animals. A lone animal has only himself/herself to count on but the pack or the pride has many members to count on, so when it comes to protection, care and feeding the odds are definitely stacked in their favor. If we take business who fares better a national established retail chain or the small guy on the corner, it’s obvious the big chain always fares better. The chain can offer deals that the small guy can never dream of offering because they have buying power and they can market what they have to a much wider customer base. The thing about being bigger or having more members is that the dynamics are much more intricate but if managed properly and everyone play, they their designated part then the group will always be successful and they will be able to adapt to everything around them. It's so important to adapt because things are ever changing and we must evolve with those changes, remember this only the strong survive. Every person is born strong, it's just that so many of us never see that, we always belittle ourselves and we never see ourselves as the shining lights that we are. Let me stress this to you, "YOU ARE STRONG". Now don't let anyone, now or ever tell you that you are weak. Remember this, you are one a kind you are unique; there is no one like you. Do you realize how special that makes you, how amazing that makes you, from today I want you to realize that? Let's face it, this world is a beautiful yet it's a vicious place to live in, why does it seem that with all our advancements in science, medicine and everything else we as humans seem to be losing our humanity. Just turn on your telly, read your local newspaper and you will see violence on a level that defies belief. Life has become so cheap and meaningless. Here in my hometown, people die over a glass of beer, brother kills brother and if you look at news worldwide it's no different, what has happened to us? Why are we becoming like this? Is humanity lost and are we on the path to our eventual destruction? The truth is if we stay on this path we are doomed. Look deep within yourself and ask yourself, do want to make a difference? Do want to make a change? Do you want to be that person that gives humanity, this world and everything in it hope? If you answered yes to all three those questions, then you are a person that with many others are going to be the salvation of mankind. Yes, you got that right the Salvation of mankind. You see, in order for this world and everything in it to survive, we need to start moving in a different direction, we need to start thinking differently and we need to start doing things differently. You see, it takes just one person to make a big difference, are you that person? If you have ever doubted yourself, I want you to stop that now, be courageous and start to believe that in your hands lays the fate of this world. It's time that you stood up and stopped taking a back seat to things, it's time that you let your voice be heard it's time to make the ultimate difference. Look at this world isn't it a beautiful place, isn't it filled with splendor and wonder and don't we want that to endure for many generations after we are gone.

Shouldn’t we at the same time be building a better humanity so that all are loved, cared and protected? Don’t we want to see the animals in this world continue to survive instead of becoming extinct, don’t we want our environments to be protected so that plants, animals, insects and trees thrive. You see there is so much in this world and as humans; we have the biggest impact on what happens to everything. It’s time we realized our place and started playing the role that we were always meant to play the role of the loving, kind, and caring guardians. That role extends to our fellow humans, animals and the plants, insects, and trees that make up this beautiful Earth. It's time you made that difference and if you want to be that difference, then come join me and together we are going to be the difference.

Chapter 1

What is Divineology?

Divineology is the life system or religion that encompasses the belief and application that life is its entirety is precious and divine. Only one life is bestowed to everything that inhabits the planet Earth. Life is to be treasured, it is to be treated with respect and never willfully harmed. Life has lost its value over time, people have lost their values and family values have diminished over time. Just look at the daily news and what you see day by day is shocking. Humanity has regressed and continues to regress at an alarming rate. What do you think is going to happen if something is not done to bring back our humanity, our family values and our respect for life? Humanity will be lost forever and we will eventually be on a path to which there will be no return. Divineology is aimed at teaching that life is divine, family is precious and hope for humanity exists and it is up to us all to make this happen. Divineology starts with an individual who sees that the world is in peril, its perception of life is lost, they see that a change is required and they, in turn, are going to act to make that difference take place. Are you that person? The next step is that person has to link up with people who share the same ideals and principles. A Divine Community is then born. This community bands together and from that point on becomes the new hope for what will be the start of a new era for the future of mankind. Divineology knows no color, race, age, culture, ethnicity, sexual orientation or tribe; it just sees everyone as a divine being with a divine purpose. Have you ever thought deeply about what your purpose is and why you were put on this Earth? If ever you thought you had no purpose, I'm telling you now you are so wrong, you were born with a divine purpose and you were born for a reason you have a big role to play in the circle of life, so take up that role and you will make differences that will surprise you beyond your greatest expectations.

Come be part of a family that will never judge you, put you down or treat you differently because of your color, ethnicity, race, sexual orientation, looks and so on come where you will be accepted for who you are, come home to Divineology.

What is a Divineologist?

A Divineologist is a person who sees life in all its spheres namely mankind, animals and the Earth as being divine. It should be protected and nurtured to ensure that the life grows to reach its full potential. How do you see life right now? Are you someone who has always seen things differently from other people, have you stood out because of your beliefs, have your beliefs defined you, has it made you a better person or has it made you what you have not desired, don't despair all is not lost, salvation is at hand. Now is the time that you finally take a stand, don't be scared to be seen as different, take different as being good and what makes you divine. See yourself as a Divineologist, someone who is different and why because you put life over profit, you put life first because you want to make a better world not only for now but for generations to come, mankind is currently on a path to destruction and in time the casualties of this will be mankind, animals, and this planet that sustains us, that is why something must be done and it must be done now, remember what we do today will change tomorrow and then the future itself, it's time we stopped sitting around and did nothing, it's time we rose to the occasion and made our mark. As a Divineologist you will do that and so much more, you going to change the course of history, your future, the futures of those around you and eventually the future and let me tell you it's going to be a good future. Remember as a Divineologist you will never stand alone; you will never be alone you will always have your new-found family behind you. Let me ask you this ARE YOU READY TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE? ARE YOU READY TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE? ARE YOU READY TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE? If you answered yes, all three times, then what are you waiting for come and join us and together let's make the ultimate difference. Remember we all live only once, let's make this once count.

Chapter 2

The Eternal Search

Since the consciousness of man, there has been an eternal search to find the God or Gods element, theism, and polytheism has formed the soul of belief within mankind. If we look at powerful civilizations of times gone by the Egyptians, The Romans, The Spartans, The Aztecs, The Mayans, The Vikings and so the list goes on, Gods were always prayed to and in many cases offerings and sacrifices were made, some being basic in the forms of fruit and animals and some gruesome in forms of human sacrifices.

Mankind was always trying to appease the Gods and would go to any lengths to do so. Many of the cultures turned to the Sun, The Moon, and the Stars, while others named their Gods according to love, war, fertility, the sea and so on. The Gods always varied according to the culture and to what purpose the God or Gods served; they defied our imaginations and were larger than life on any scale imaginable. But why did mankind always look to Gods? Why did we need to see ourselves as lesser beings that were created by a superior being or beings? Have you ever stopped to think about that? I certainly have thought about that. Have we been justified in doing that? As time went by, those Gods faded away and new Gods were sought out, are we repeating a pattern here where in time the religions that we know today might be gone and be replaced by other religions. If we look at history that could be a possibility. If we look at mankind can we say for sure that we have truly found what we have been looking for, have you found what you have been looking for or do you still think there must be a better way or system of belief? We are caught up in this eternal search where we want to know who we are and what purpose do we serve. If I have to ask you what would be your greatest purpose in life? What would you say, just take the time to look at yourself, your surroundings and the world and I'm sure you will be able to see that purpose.

Sometimes things are much simpler than they appear, but sadly, its human nature to complicate things. Where has your search taken you, do you find that you are fulfilled or do you feel like there has to be an alternative and an alternative that would satisfy you and complete you? In this great search mankind has forgotten to look one place and that is within itself. Take a look at how man has evolved and how that evolution has taken place, did the early apelike ancestors pray to Gods, no they didn't, Gods were introduced much later on, what impact has this had on us, could it have impeded our minds because we saw ourselves as lesser beings or did it benefit us in some way. Just think about this if you see yourself as less and something else as being bigger then you where does that leave you? Do you reach your full potential or does the bigger thing always keep you subservient to it? The search for mankind is still going on today, can that search stop I certainly think so, we just have to find the right balance, what satisfies us on all levels and once we do that, we become whole, happiness and fulfillment will set in and the eternal search will end. What mankind has forgotten over time is that we don't exist alone on this planet, we inhabit this planet with animals and the environment, we omitted two very important entities and this left a void within us, we needed to satisfy that void and what happened we looked to the stars and heavens for answers and what did we find? Let's be honest, nothing really, nothing we found ever fulfilled us, but now that is about to change, your search can end, it can be over. Have you ever before had a theology that encompassed all the primaries on this Earth? Just go back in time and look and you will see one or the other was encompassed but all were never accepted on the level of being equal, that has now changed, Divineology is born and it does just that. That love you have for mankind, that love you have for animals and that love you have for the environment are now all divine under Divineology, if you have love for all this then come, be part of what will truly fulfill you and make you whole again, end your eternal search and experience a new beginning.

Chapter 3

The Three Divines

If we look at life, we will see three divines, these are the primaries that make this planet what it is.

The Environment

This is the divine in which we reside, man, animal, trees, insects and plants; you get what I'm saying here it's the habitat of all life on this planet. If we look at it, it's beautiful, it has so many wonders to still offer, look at the oceans, man hasn't begun to explore what lies beneath the waters. This is the only world that we have, we have sent probes out into deep space and as yet we have found life on no other planets or any other planets wherein, we can reside. Mother Nature is perfectly balanced; everything has its place and performs a certain or specific function. The balance in this once perfect realm has been offset by the greed of man. Look at what's happening to our rainforests, look at what's happening to our natural resources, the plundering of our oceans and as you know the list here grows at an exponential rate. Profit has blinded people and organizations, who cares what happens to the environment as long as the money keeps coming in. What happens when in the end, we destroy this world? Where do we go and what will we do? So far, we have nowhere else to go, so the question is what are we going to do? What? What? What? What? What? I'm going to tell you what we are going to do, we are going to start changing our mindset, we are going to start changing other people's mindsets and, in the end, we are going to change this world, it's not going to be an overnight process but it's going to be something that is going to be achieved. Don't you want your children to live in a better world, a world in which life is respected and treasured and which everything is granted their chance at life? Is that really asking so much, if we want things to change, we have to start a change within ourselves?

If you love this world, you will love everything in it and you would want it to thrive and not one day become a barren wasteland. The time to make a change is now, are you ready to make that change?

Animals

How did you feel when you saw your first puppy, kitten, bunny rabbit, lion cub, bear cub or any little animal, let's be honest it melted your heart and it just overwhelmed you? Look at all the animals we see in nature, each animal has an important part to play and serves a designated role. If any animal is not in that role an imbalance occurs and that could result in the fall of an entire ecosystem. The one creature that is on top of the food chain is man; we decide the fate of so many animals. Have you ever stopped to ask yourself why we are on top; is it to dominate or to be guardians of what resides on this planet? If we look at certain people you will see it revolves around domination and everything that must be trampled under their feet, they kill indiscriminately and without conscience, life has no meaning to them and on the other end you get people who care and spend a lifetime protecting and taking care of the beautiful creatures who make this world the wonderful place that it is. What type of person are you the protector or the annihilator? We have an enormous responsibility and it's to protect the animals of this world, we impact immensely on their lives in what we do and how we do it, many species are already extinct and if care is not exercised many species will soon follow, it's time we realized we all share this beautiful world and in order for it to thrive, everything has to live in harmony and the balances in Mother Nature must be maintained, people, it's up to us, let us protect the animals of this world so that we can see them tomorrow and we can, in turn, make sure that future generations see them and not look at them as pictures in books or creatures in documentaries of an era long gone by. All life is precious and we all have just one life to live, let's make this life count for us and for everything that lives on this planet.

Mankind

This is us, humans and we have populated this planet for a relatively short period of time, we have progressed from cave dwellers to creatures of wonder, building high-rise buildings, inventing flying, performing medical wonders and there seem to be no limits to what we can accomplish in time. But as we have become more advanced have, we become more civil, more kind and caring or has our advancement made us more primitive? We are the species that dominates this planet and everything on it, should we not adopt a more respectful and caring approach by preserving and protecting instead of destroying? Our track record as humans has gotten dismal over time, we are decimating this planet and it's all in the name of profit. Money makes the world go around and there's nothing wrong with making money as long as it's done responsibly and the impact of making that money does not harm this world or the creatures that reside in it. But sadly, this is not the case environments are plundered and animals hunted to the brink of extinction just for the sake of profits or so-called medical remedies that have no concrete or proven scientific validation. What is so important to realize now is that the damage, although severe in certain areas are recoverable, we have the time now to start off on a clean footing and to start to take charge, be more responsible and look at ways of generating profits without decimation. We control what happens on this planet and what we do now is going to impact heavily on it in the future. We have nowhere else to go and if this planet is damaged beyond its limits we are doomed and everything on this planet is doomed. Let us look at this as a new beginning, a new start in which we consider our actions and look at what their impacts today will be, tomorrow and the next day. Let us look deep inside us at what makes us human and it's something so beautiful, let us start to see the change in us that we want to see in the world. We are truly the Primary Divine so let us show our divinity, to our fellow mankind, to the animals of this world and the environment in which we all live. Let us show what makes us great as human beings.

Chapter 4

The Divinities

What are divinities? I know this is a new concept to everyone, but it's something we all have heard of before under different names but in the end, it's the same thing. A divinity is a special gift or talent that one is born with. As we are all different and so unique this gift or talent varies from person to person. For some of us this talent or gift just passes us by because we are too afraid to act on it or show what our true potential is. This divinity is so precious and its sets us apart from each other, imagine if we all had the same divinity, mankind would be so dull, but life has made it such that we are different and it's that difference that makes us so unique.

Look around you, mankind abounds with divinities, you get surgeons who can do organ transplants, you get people that can take an old wrecked vehicle and make it look brand new, you get people that paint so well that their works of art are living tapestries, as you can see I can go on and on and it will see no end. Have you ever taken a look at yourself and seen what your divinity or divinities are? If you have and you know what is, what have you done with your divinity, if you know your divinity and in the past or now let it go to waste, I'm telling you don't do that, your divinity can define you, you can be that person who changes the life of someone or in turn change the course of mankind, you must realize immediately that your divinity or divinities are divine. Remember, you must at all times be the best that you can be, the stronger you become, the better of a person you are and the better of a person that you are the more you can develop yourself to be the best you can be. Do you want to be a person that just sits by as life passes you by or do you want to make that difference? There's no time like the present, identify your divinity, develop it and make it benefit you, mankind, animals, and the environment, remember the three are all one on this amazing planet. Unleash the divinity within you.

Chapter 5

The Two Spheres of Consciousness

Everything begins with a thought, if you want to be it you have think it first if you want to do anything you always told to think it through carefully. Why think you may ask? Well, because it allows us to look at the pros and cons before anything is done because that will always determine the outcome and that outcome is what will either put us on a good or bad outcome. As people, we have all different mindsets and being different is what makes us so unique, the one thing we all have in common are the spheres of consciousness, this eventually makes us the person that we are. Ever wondered why some people are just so cruel and thoughtless yet you have other people who are so selfless and will do anything to help others if you didn't know I'm telling you now it's their consciousness spheres that set them apart. Now let's look at the two primary spheres of consciousness that we have:

The Parasitic Consciousness:

We all know what parasites are they are creatures who feed off other creatures with the action of self-gain, which in turn causes harm to the other creature. In this sphere, only one-party benefits. This is the most dangerous sphere and its intent from the onset is to do harm. Look at the world today and you will see many people who have preyed on other people, you see it on television, you read about it in the newspapers you hear stories from friends and family members and the end result if not stopped timeously is always devastating. How many times have you not heard of people giving their life savings to some individual who has a larger than life story about how he can turn that into a miraculous nest egg, but all that person wants is to use that money for their own selfish purposes and in the end the people who invested have lost everything? Those stories are sadly too many to mention. You see the parasitic sphere exists on a mental and physical level.

It's a mindset with a devious purpose of causing intentional harm. In this modern world that we live in, people are driven by greed and this greed causes people to change in ways we would never believe, they don't care how they get what they want or who they hurt in getting what they want they just want and that want just grows and grows until it eventually consumes them. Have a good look at that the world and you will see what is done in the name of profit and financial gain. The search for never-ending profit is changing people and slowly destroying this world and everything that inhabits it. The essence of mankind itself is being eroded. There's an old, saying my dad use to say to me "If it's too good to be true, then it's too true to be good" It's so sad that the love of money has caused humanity to become so evil and to develop into parasites. The parasitic mindset is all about self-gain at the expense of someone else or something else with no after thought of what harm the resultant actions will have or cause.

The Mutual Consciousness:

This is the mindset where the same emotions are shared, or when the same thing is done to and for each other. It's in essence where both parties benefit. Now isn't that being better than the parasitic sphere here we have a benefit taking place, but the benefit goes to both parties. Mutual gain, mutual understanding, and mutual respect, those are just a few to look at, but isn't anything good when there is a gain for everyone concerned. Life is good and it can always get better, the betterment is instituted by a simple thought I want to do good rather than harm. Don't make your life a one-way street, make it a two-way street where you go up and you come down. Look at life, what's better to see someone hurting or crying or see someone smiling and being happy? Happiness is at the core of humanity and no amount of money can buy it, it's free to give and its effects are long lasting. We all have one life to live, this is something I say over and over again because people tend to forget this, so let's make it a life in which we all benefit and let's make that not only for now but for all time. The mutual mindset is where benefit or gain is for all concerned with no one being harmed or hurt in any way.

Chapter 6

The Pillars of Divineology

Divineology like many theologies out there have pillars upon which it's founded and at its base it has a foundation, all merge together to make it what it is. I feel in today's world, we forget the very basics that make us human. Being human is simple, it's always been that way, but over time mankind has complicated things. Let's go back to being simple and let's make this life count for something, a life in which everything that inhabits this earth can get to enjoy life and benefit from what the Earth has to offer.

Understanding:

It's the ability to comprehend and to be sympathetic. When last have taken the time just to listen to what someone else has to say and to offer a shoulder to lean on? In life, we are so concerned about what's happening in our lives that we don't realize that there are other people, animals and the environment that encapsulates the rest of our world. Being understanding opens the door to sympathy and that sympathy allows us to see things in a new light.

Acceptance:

It is the process of being received as adequate, valid or suitable, in a nutshell; it's to take someone as they are. For example, it's looking at a poor person and seeing them as being a person and not someone who is beneath you. In this life, we tend to be very judgmental, this at times is not bad because we encounter very bad people, but in the case of people not having the same social status as you have this is bad. We must see all people as being equal don't let money, make you think you are better than everyone out there if money does this to you, then deep down you are just a shallow person and without that money what are you then?

When people are good and their intentions are good no matter what their background accept them for what and who they are and not what they have or from what you can gain from them. See everything as being equal to the right of life.

Tolerance:

This is the ability or willingness to tolerate the existence of opinions or behavior that one dislikes or disagrees with. Tolerance is open-mindedness, the lack of bias and being broad minded. The one thing we must understand is that we are all different I know I've said this before, but some things just need repeating, as we are different, we have different ways of dealing with people and life in general. Some of us are patient and some of us are impatient and how we are lets us react to what we are confronted with. In order for us to become better, we must learn to be tolerant, to take the time to accept that a person is a certain way and be constructive in how we approach a person and how in the end we deal with that person. Tolerance goes a long way with our abilities to cope and to deal with people on different levels. It also lets us be more understanding. So please if there're things in life that make you intolerable make a change and start the process of being tolerant, it won't only benefit you but everything and everyone around you.

Forgiveness:

It is the process of forgiving or being forgiven. As humans, we are far from being perfect and we all make mistakes. Life can be very unpredictable at times and situations can lead us to do things that we normally wouldn't do. This action or actions will impact on someone or on you and most of the time the end result is you or someone else ends up getting hurt. This hurt can cause us to act in a way we wouldn't normally act and it could result in us isolating that person or from us being isolated. That pain can take a long time to heal, but in time it does heal. Life is so short, you don't want a situation when you want to make amends but you can't because that person has passed on, it's a nasty situation to be in.

So, take the time to make amends instead of pushing someone away forgive and have them closer to you. Forgive and when you forgive, forget and make a new start.

Compromise:

It is the agreement or settlement of a dispute that is reached by each side making concessions. It's the ability to look at a situation and to come to a conclusion in which both parties benefit in the end. Being human means that we are steadfast in our ways and we see things in a certain way and when we don't see things go our way, we can become confrontational. This normally never ends well, just think how many times have you seen road rage, neighbors fighting over a boundary and this goes on and on. Our intolerance limits our ability to compromise. Wouldn't it be better if something benefitted both parties and saw both parties benefiting instead of harm coming to someone? That's why it's so important to see a dispute being settled amicably. So, take the time to think before you act, take the time to see what is before you and how best the situation can be resolved to see that the parties concerned benefit, take the time to compromise.

Equality:

It is the state of being equal in status, rights, and opportunities. Equality is something that has faded over time, in this day and age; it's fading at an alarming rate. No matter what a person is or where they come from, they should be seen as equal, a bigger bank balance or better social standing shouldn't put you above anyone, I know I'm saying that allot. When it comes to rights and opportunities, we see that in this current day and age people are still being marginalized and this has led to increased poverty, the breakdown of social systems, families, neighborhoods, communities and in the larger scheme of things countries. Every person is special and every person is divine, and to make sure everyone has a fair chance of a good life equal opportunities should be afforded to everyone, it's a system in which everyone gains.

Remember this all mankind is equal in death, why can't we be equal in life. Let's work together within Divineology and make equality a true reality. Remember let there be no judgment, but upliftment.

Respect:

It is to have due regard for someone's feelings, wishes or rights. How many of us truly have regard for anyone else's feelings, look at that person and think before we speak or act out. Being irrational is something that is prevalent in many people, we should always think before we act and speak out so we can always make the best decision and never end up having regrets. Respect should always be earned by you proving yourself to be honorable and trustworthy, by you leaving an impression that lasts and impacts on all those around you. Once you have respect and you respect everything around you, your look on life has a new outlook, you will attach value to everything and once it has value it has meaning and a purpose. So always have regard for the feelings of people and the animals and that will lead to the environment automatically benefitting. Respect is your badge of honor wear it proudly.

Unconditional Love:

Love, if you search it you will find its basic meaning is a strong feeling of affection. But we know that's just scratching the surface of what love is. It's a human emotion, feeling and state of being that defies and boggles the mind. If we look at the core of humanity, it's something we are all searching for and in reality, how many of us actually find that love. If we look at the world around us, we will see that many don't seem to find it, we must ask why so many don't find it. When I talk to many people about love I find that for many people love has a condition or conditions attached to it. That to me is a major flaw, for love to work you have to be open and to make it without any conditions. Love that person as they are, accept them as they are and together grow in that love to be better and fall more and more in love. Unconditional Love is the foundation of Divineology.

It opens you up to everything around you and shows you how precious things are, so from today I want you to love and to love without conditions but love to find a happiness that you have never dreamed of.

Liberation:

Liberation is the act of freeing someone or something from another's control. How many of you out there feel like you are in bondage that what you believe is imprisoning you instead of setting you free. You feel the more you go into it the less it satisfies you and brings you the happiness and joy that you seek. A belief system or religion is supposed to fulfill you and satisfy the desires of your heart and soul. When this does not happen then a person has to be liberated, they need to be set free. One thing I will never do is criticize any religion or belief system, but when that system goes against what you believe and stand for then you must make an informed decision to find something that will coincide with what you believe and that will benefit you not just for now but for always.

Divineology is a religion and a belief system of life. It is where you will never be ridiculed, you will never be judged by your bank balance, you will never be judged by your color, your race, sexual orientation and so forth, you will be accepted for what you are and that is a Divine Life that should be treated with the utmost love, respect, and care. So, if you are currently where you feel imprisoned become liberated, set yourself free.

Sacrifice:

Sacrifice is described as giving up something valued for the sake of other considerations. With great sacrifice comes great reward. Why may you ask because you are setting aside something of value to yourself and allowing another consideration to take priority? Are willing to truly do that and not just do it but do it with all your heart, if you are willing to do that then you are a person who can make a great sacrifice and because of your ultimate selflessness the beneficiaries are only limited by your imagination. In Divineology we will always make the ultimate sacrifice because we know that there are things greater than ourselves and we are willing to do what it takes, we have big hearts and objective minds, we will always give of ourselves willingly for the greater good. Are you a person that's always willing to put yourself aside for the greater good do always do more, to always go the extra mile? Then come be part of the Divineology family and see a family that truly cares about you and who's always willing to sacrifice not only for you but for the ultimate greater good.

Chapter 7

The Faith Debacle

Faith is complete trust or confidence in something or someone. Throughout time, mankind has placed its faith in religion and many other things. Like I always say there's nothing wrong with religion, it's always the interpretation of it that has caused areas of conflict. Mankind has always been asked to believe in things they can't see, feel, touch or prove. How far has this faith gotten us and to what extent has it benefitted mankind? Are we truly justified in putting our faith in things we can't see, touch or prove? We say seeing is believing, but when it comes to faith, what do we truly see? Have you noticed mankind's faith has gone everywhere but to itself?

When are going to start putting our faith back in mankind and I mean truly back, let's stop looking away from ourselves and look at ourselves and within ourselves, let us see us as the divine beings that we are. Misdirected faith is faith that just goes nowhere and benefits no one; let's see faith as a benefit and as something that restores new hope in humanity and its continuous progression. Imagine what this world would be like if we had complete confidence and trust in humanity and not in everything else that takes faith away from humanity, let's plant the seeds of faith in humanity, nurture it and make it grow in such a way that it makes us reach levels within us never heard of and never expected of us. The greatest faith is the faith we have in ourselves and in those around us, let's put faith in what we can see and see where that takes us.

Chapter 8

The Seedling Philosophy

Have you ever looked at a seed, really looked at, if you haven't just take the time to do that and see what you see? While writing, this I was looking at the Coriander seed, you know when it forms on the tree its green and circular in shape and times goes on the color changes, it goes purplish and then turns brown. Now here's the amazing part when that seed is brown it's dead, lifeless if you break it open you find nothing inside. Now take that seed put in the ground, cover it with soil and give it some water. What happens next is truly amazing that seed that had no life suddenly comes to life and a beautiful plant is born. I find this to be one of many spectacular events in nature. You see from nothing came something and something miraculous too. You see as people we are born and we live our lives but for so long we don't find that fulfillment, that joy, and happiness that makes the darkest day seem like water on a ducks back. You see in Divineology a person is reborn, you become a life that matters and in turn, all life matters to you. You will leave behind your old life and make an impact on the lives on everything and everyone around you. When you appreciate life, you appreciate the greatest gift there is, you will cherish it, nurture it, love it and protect it. The whole journey of a seed is one of the most beautiful journeys of life in nature. Do you want to experience that change, that transformation? Well let me tell you that you can and let me say it will be one of the greatest changes that you will ever experience, it gives a life that had no meaning a new and true meaning, it adds purpose to life and that purpose will put you on a new journey of life. I'm sure for so many of you out there you always wanted a purpose but not any purpose a divine purpose and there is nothing more divine than life. When you apply the Seedling Philosophy to your life, you are born again and the true happiness and joy that has eluded you for all or most of your life will now be opened to and you will know for always.

So, let the old you die and be born again with a new outlook, direction, and purpose. You see from nothing something so beautiful is created into something amazing and that amazing can be you, so if your whole life you have been made to feel like you are nothing then come to Divineology where you will always be made to feel like something but just not something ordinary something amazing and special.

Chapter 9

The Great Divides

History is truly something great it lets us look at the past and see what has transpired, both good and bad.

If we look at mankind there has been things that have divided mankind and the primary factors here are religion, culture, tribes, caste system and race. All the listed gives people a sense of identification and belonging but has that belonging been for the betterment of mankind or has it had the reverse effect. Please don't get me wrong I'm in no way speaking bad about any of the things I have listed except the Caste System but I'm pointing out what has happened over time. Look at history and you will see many atrocities committed. What was once so special and pure has become tainted by man's perception and actions. I call them the great divides are they are as follows:

Religion

Cultures

Tribes

Caste System

Race

Up till now have we truly seen any benefit by classifying us to any of the listed items? Just look at where we are now put on your television and you will see many people across the planet still dying in the name religions, cultures, and race. Why have we not learned from history, surely something must be wrong, is the loss of so many lives truly warranted. You see when it comes to religion it's not the religion that's the problem but the interpretation of that said religion that is the problem and as history shows us that's not going to change anytime soon. Cultures and tribes were supposed to represent a human identity but they over history became symbols of oppression and dominance, history alone tells sad stories of the amount of human lives lost to this. Race this is one that dominates history and we have seen over time how people were persecuted due them being a certain race. I know I have seen this from personal experience growing up in South Africa, how black people and other non-whites were persecuted and inhumanly treated just because of their skin color. Will racism ever be rid of? some people think not but I think it can, there's nothing that can't be achieved if we all work together and see that there is a better way forward. Now let me ask you this if I put two people in front of you and they did not recognize, religion, culture, tribalism and race what would you have? You would have people that have no dividing lines and have no reason for any contention or conflict. In order for mankind to be reborn and move forward, we must see a person and not see someone from a background that we don't like because they belong to a certain sect, race, religion or culture. For too long mankind has divided itself and those divisions has had catastrophic consequences, history tells us so many stories, instead of repeating history lets for once learn and move forward, when is the time to move forward you might ask, well I say its now, make today count, and say I want to be better, I want a better future for my child, my children's children, don't sit by and be idle be one who takes a stand and together let's build a better world for all of mankind Let us no more be divided but united with one goal in mind, the unification of mankind.

Again, I must stress everything I listed above with the exception of the Caste System are truly wonderful things but they lose their wonder and meaning when they cause harm or even death. So, love who are where you are from and use that to always do good and spread goodwill to all. Never do any harm.

Chapter 10

The Universal Thorns of Demise

Take a look at the world as it is now, can we honestly say that we are proud of what this world has become. I personally am so disappointed, why for all our advancements does it seem we are becoming more primitive and barbaric. Life means nothing, people every day lose their lives to the smallest of things. What has placed humanity in this universal state of demise? Look at the world and what has happened over the expanse of time, should we by now not have grasped the value of life, should we not be at a point where we treasure rather that destroy life? What fires of detriment have burnt in our hearts to put us where we are, because it can't be nothing that has led to this? If you look around carefully you will see a few things that capture world headlines, these are the things that are causing the demise of humanity and its cancerous effects are taking a stranglehold on humanity. Well let me say this say this it's time to start loosening that grip and eventually breaking that grip and in time setting humanity free and bringing it to a place where it has the realization that instead of taking a life its better rather to nurture or save a life. Here is a list of what the Universal Thorns of Demise are.

Racism

Racism is the belief that all members of each race possess characteristics, abilities, or qualities specific to that race especially so to as so as to distinguish it as inferior or superior to another race or races. When we look at racism, I ask myself this one question, how did it ever come about that the color of a person's skin would ever separate one person from the next? If we go back in time and see what was done to black people, they were captured, treated worse than animals and then sold off to be the property of another person. How did the color of their skin make it such that people would want to do this to them? If we look at history, we will see so many countries where vile acts of racism have caused genocide, uprooted tribes and cultures and have caused decades or even centuries of hurt and pain that there is just no end to. Since when has one race ever been superior to the next? In a civilized society where all are seen as equal and having the same rights, should not everyone be equal then, but still with all of this racism persists, it's like the mythic hydra cut off the head and another one just grows back in its place. Like it or nor this world is made up of different people and in my eyes, no one people is superior to the next. We need to start to change our train of thought and not see color but a person, a person who walks like you, talks like you, has red blood and all the vital organs that you do. How can such a superior species like humanity be divided by something so small, the color of our skins? What does this truly tell us about ourselves and our method of thinking? What does it tell us about our intelligence and how far we've come if this still exists in our so-called modern societies? Let me ask you this do people kill each other over having different color cars? You can answer that for yourself, but yet we kill fellow human beings because they are of different skin color. People it's time we take a good look and start to change, remember building a house no matter how big or small requires that one brick is laid at a time, so too if the change starts with one person and moves to the next, we can stem out the demise of racism that has held humanity in its grips for so long. Let's see the change, let's make the difference, and let's eradicate Racism.

Hatred

Hatred simply put in an intense dislike. I want you to look at that again it's not just a dislike but an intense dislike. Why do people hate? And what causes them to hate so much? There are many factors which come into play here, racism leads to hate, and it's a byproduct of it. Over time the reasons to hate in humanity has grown so much. Look at gangs most of the people really don't know each other that well but their following dictates that you hate the opposing gang and, on either side, people kill people they've never met or don't know at all. We breed hate in society like a fine pedigree line, and then we show it off like a proud pedigree, should we really be so proud of something so despicable, the more intense the hate the more the cruelty behind it. Why don't we ever see that we are germinating a seed of such bad discontent that it grows like a weed that cannot be eradicated as long as we water it with our evil and cruel intentions. There's so much negativity in this world isn't it time that some positive effects start to filter through, effects that that lead to love, kindness and compassion instead of pain, cruelty and death. Let's make the change in ourselves and reflect it for everyone to see, let's say love and not hate. Let's change intense dislike too intense like.

Prejudice

Prejudice is unreasonable feelings, opinions or attitudes of a hostile nature regarding an ethnic, racial, social, or religious group. If we look at that definition don't some words just stand out, two that caught my eyes were unreasonable and hostile. Here we again hostility rear its ugly head on a broader platform. We must understand and I'm saying this again the world is made up of many different people, who have many different beliefs and are from various social standings and religions. This world is a very big place and there should be freedom allowed for everyone to have their beliefs without them having to be persecuted for it. But within people sadly lies the conviction that what they believe supersedes everything else and this is where prejudice will start to set in. That belief could result in them being prejudicial ethnically, racially, socially and religiously. We have all done history at school and we have seen what has played out over time, but here's the burning question, why haven't we learned from history? Instead it's a case of history repeating itself over and over again. Are we so blind to the past that we repeat it without seeing its consequences on humanity? Humanity is being lost just put on your television, read the news, what we see is a precursor to the demise of humanity over time, just look at it like an infection or cancer it builds up over time and if it's not treated the end result is devastating. We need to start looking more clearly at what's happening and see how we can play our part in that change. Remember it won't be on overnight change but a change over time. But it has to start with you and I, so let's make that difference. Let's look at everyone and respect them ethnically, racially, socially and for their religious beliefs. Prejudice should have no place in the confines of our hearts so let us all make a concerted effort to evict it and replace it with acceptance.

Intolerance

Intolerance is the unwillingness to accept views, beliefs or behavior that differs from our own. Why in this world are we unwilling to accept what others believe, the views they share or if they behave differently from us? as long as they never cause harm and they always have good intentions. This world is such a big place, so many countries make it up and, in these countries, are people who do things a certain way, act a certain way, and believe in different things. We are installed with a certain belief system from the time we are born and this system does one of two things it makes us accept things or reject things. In accepting we are tolerant and in rejecting can be tolerant and intolerant. Let me explain this I might not believe something that someone else believes but I don't act against it I respect them and what they believe, I let them be and then you get someone who does not believe that and acts out, normally in way that is going to cause harm or even death. Now that is where intolerance rears its ugly head. In Divineology we learn to respect everyone for what they believe, what their views are and their behavior if it is good, beneficial to this world and if it will not cause harm or death in any way or form. This world is made up of so many people and with people comes so many complications, but do we really need these complications, I say NO, a little tolerance goes a long way and will serve humanity so much better than intolerance which tends to divide us, cause conflict, hurt and even death. So, let's be tolerant instead of intolerant.

Chapter 11

The True Value

Have you ever looked at a fire, it burns so bright so hot and so beautiful? Have you ever lit fireworks and seen the beautiful color effects, they always just amaze us? There's a song by the Legendary Bruce Springsteen called Dancing in the Dark and in this amazing song he says "You can't start a fire without a spark" No let me ask you this how many of you reading this right now ever thought of the spark that started that beautiful fire or was the reason that you could light those awesome fireworks. I must openly say I never thought about the spark but always the end result of what it started. If we look closely, we will see nothing would ever be ignited if that spark wasn't first formed. So, the true value of the flame lies within the spark. So, to in life we get people who are sparks, people that are the catalysts to big things happening, this could be at home, at work, at school, college, university or in another organization but they are never acknowledged and they are always overlooked. Because of their standing in the various environments that they are in people always look at the big flames of those environments and the poor sparks just fade into the background with no recognition. The reality here is and I'm saying this again is that without that spark there would be no big flame. Too often people are overlooked but yet their contributions change the course of so many things. In Divineology we recognize the spark and understand the importance of that spark and we will always give it the recognition that it deserves. If you are reading this now and you feel that no matter how much you do, have done and continue to do goes without getting recognition, then I want to say to you, you can end that, you can finally know that in Divineology you are recognized, you that little spark that everyone overlooks will finally be recognized as the spark that caused the big flame. You see in Divineology your true value is recognized, it's a value that supersedes all the money in world, it's a value that is Divine, it's a value that makes you so special and unique because you are one of a kind, I'm going to say that again you are one of a kind, you are so special and never forget you are Divine.

Remember this always it will always be that small spark that makes the big flame, so in reality the spark will always be bigger than the flame. In Divineology you will be the spark that lights up the lives of everyone around you and those you will eventually come into contact with, your true value will always be recognized, because like I've said before you are so special and there's only one you.

Chapter 12

The Time Effect

Time only moves one way and that is forward. How often have we wished we could go back in time and do something over, do it differently, we always seem to realize after the time has passed that what we did was not what we should have done. Time has the greatest impacts on our lives how we use it today impacts on how the future will turn out and we all want a bright and happy future. If we look at history it tells a very grim and sad story, countless of lives lost in wars, religious persecutions, dictatorships and it goes on and on. If we look at life now, we see the devaluing of the value of life. With all the time that has passed and all that we have accomplished why does that still happen? Have we not looked at our historical shortcomings and sought to improve on them? Why have we not benefitted from the time that has passed? Time is a luxury that mankind is running short of and this is affecting us now on a small scale but for future generations, these impacts will be felt on a much larger scale. Do we really want that to transpire? The one thing we must understand is that's it's never too late, provided that we learn from our past, improve our present circumstances and help secure the future so that it will be of benefit to all those that live herein. Ever heard the saying "There's no time like the present" in a nutshell it means to seize the moment you have now. Have you seized the moment, have you looked back in history and don't want to repeat the sins of the past? do want now to matter so that tomorrow is going to be so much better, then make the time you have mean something, make that time count, I'm sure we all want what's best for us, what's best for those we care about and what's best for the world that we live in but that that's only going to happen if we take a stand, learn from history and make the Time Effect work positively in our lives and in the lives of everything around us. Time is so important and let's face it we have such a limited amount of it, no one has any idea of when they are going to die, so in the living time that we have let's make it count and make time work for us and not against us. So many wonderful things happen in time, we are born, we grow up, we experience so many different things, we fall in love, we have kids, we have impacts on other people's lives, we change the course of history, time can be so good but it's only as good as you make it or as good as you want it to be. Make your time on this Earth great and memorable. Remember the time to act is now.

Chapter 13

Perpetualization

I'm sure many of you have come across the idea or belief that life is eternal and even though we leave life on this Earth we go off to somewhere else and life starts again but in what way or form still remains a mystery. In Divineology we believe this too but with one fundamental difference and that is if you are joined together in this life with a partner the two of you with your offspring will always be together, there is no until death do us part but instead in the next life do, we meet again. Life is perpetual and now you can see that Perpetualization is the belief that once a bond is formed between people who love each other and want to dedicate themselves to each other for eternity they will be together for eternity not just them but everyone they love to. Just look at the world all we do is search for love and happiness, sadly so many people don't find that but for those who do we want that to endure and it can, if you are together now you can be together forever and face whatever it is together, build up each other together and live the happiness and joy for all eternity together. Remember never see death as an end to things but merely the doorway to the beginning of something new, all death has done is take you away from this current world that you are in and put you in a new world in which you have to endure again and I'm going to say this again you will not be alone you will be with your life's partner, that person who knows you inside and out and accepts and loves you as you are. A bond is a bond for all time, so you never have to feel bad or sad that you have lost someone dear to you because you haven't lost them, they are waiting for you and together you will start the next life sequence.

Chapter 14

The Appreciation Principle

How many of us wake up in the morning and say thanks for what we have? Say thanks that we have a roof over our heads, a plate of food to eat, a job to go to, for the good health that we have, may I ask when last you have done that? So many of us take things for granted and there's nothing wrong with wanting more but if you don't appreciate the small things in life how can you appreciate the bigger things in life. You know if you look at this world you will truly see people who have nothing, they live on the streets with no shelter, have no money, they have no idea where their next meal will be coming from, some of them go hungry for days and many of them are in poor health due to their living conditions but yet some of them still manage to put a smile on their face even though they are drowning in a sea of adversity. I must tell you this I took my kids to the beach; it was a Sunday and we bought ice cream and proceeded to eat it. In the distance, I saw a man coming up from a bushy area beneath a restaurant area and he proceeded to walk down towards us. As he walked, I saw the people he chatted to were laughing quite a bit and this caught my attention. I waited patiently and then he made his way to us, he had a wonderful personality and proceeded to tell us jokes, I must say they were very funny and he had us in stitches, he told us he slept under the restaurant and spent his day making people laugh and smile and asked for a little change in return for that, just so that he could buy something to eat for the day. He made it quite clear that if you didn't have anything to give him that was fine, seeing people smile was payment enough. Here I saw a man who many people would perceive to have nothing but yet to him, he had everything that made life good and he, in turn, wanted to pass on what he had and what he had was happiness and thanks for the little that he had. You see he gave people what money could never buy a good laugh, a good smile, and happiness. I think about him often, he truly helped change my outlook on life; he made me appreciate what I have. That's what I want from you; I want you to appreciate who you have in this life, what you have in this life and everything that you achieve in this life. The Appreciation Principle is so important it brings your appreciation of life and everything in it into such a clear perspective that your outlook on life will change and when that outlook changes you to become a better person and you will enrich the lives of everyone around you. So, next time you wake up, have that breakfast, drive your car to work, during your working day, when you leave work and come home, say thanks for what you have don't look at how big or small things are, just be thankful that you have so much appreciate the blessings that surround you and remember you have so much more than others and so many people would give anything for the small mercies and blessings that you have. Start to appreciate.

Chapter 15

The Belonging

Do you feel like you are lost, that you are part of a family but yet you don't belong there? You do everything to please the people in that family or group but whatever you do it's never enough, they take you for granted, don't appreciate you and you are always made to feel like the odd one out wherever you are with them or go with them. It's so sad when this transpires because we all want is a sense of belonging and instead you rather get rejected and ridiculed. I'm sure for so many of you out there the pain of bearing this has been immense and the people doing this to you will never understand the true impact of the hurt and pain that they put you through. Let's face it we all want a place of belonging, a place where we are recognized and given the just respect that we deserve. Being an outcast hurts, it hurts so much. This applies to family, friends, work, school's universities, colleges and so on, when you are part of something yet you mean nothing within it what is the purpose of being in it? I'm saying this again we all want to belong and we all want to be made to feel not like we belong but rather that we do belong and no matter how big or small the things that we do we are always made to feel that what we have done always means so much. If you are hurting right now, if you have always been made to feel like you mean nothing, what you do means nothing and that you don't belong, I have some great news for you. In Divineology everyone means something, everyone has a purpose, what they do big or small is recognized and you have a new family who will never ridicule you but always elevate you. Divineology is a belonging like no other and you will find your belonging herein, so whether your love is to the Environment, Animals or Mankind, you will dedicate to where your heart leads you. This will put you in a haven of belonging in which you will grow, be accepted for who you are, be recognized for what you do and for you to realize that now you have come home and all the people around you are your new family. So, I'm inviting you, if you have been left out and always made to feel like nothing, come to your new home, come to where you belong, come fill that hole in your heart, because in Divineology you will always belong.

Chapter 16

The Acceptance Philosophy

How often do you see poor people begging and think nothing of them, see people who live in a poor neighborhood and want nothing to do with them, see someone at school who is different and mock them, see someone who has just come out of prison and think they are scum? I could go on and on but you know what I'm getting at, we tend to judge so much, marginalize and persecute people because they are poor, homeless, are different looking or even when they are disabled. Let me ask you this who will better be received at a school a poor person from a poor neighborhood or rich person from an up-market suburb? We both know it's the rich person and do you know what separates the two people, its money. The one can afford and the other can't. In today's society when you can give people take and that makes you so popular. Why is it we don't accept people for what and who they are? Must we always get something in order to be decent to someone? Look how people change themselves just so that other people accept them, they will do or say anything for that acceptance; is it really worth it to become someone you are not just for that acceptance? You see we all want is to be accepted and there's nothing better than being accepted for who you are if you are a good person with good intentions and it will not lead to the harm of another person or anything else. If you feel that you are not being accepted because you look different, you are from a different background, you come out of prison and you are reformed and want to give back, or for whatever the reason I just want to say Divineology embraces you, it accepts you, it's not going to ask you to change who you are just to fit in, you just fit in because you are you and you are so special and so unique and we recognize that. I must say always keep your intentions honest, kind and truthful with no harmful intentions and also open your arms to everyone show them that they are loved and accepted for who they are and not what they can give. Divineology accepts you and loves you for who you are, not what you can give so come home and be happy.

Chapter 17

The Happiness of Being

What is it we want in life? If you ask people you will get varied answers but the one that surfaced the most was happiness. Why is it that we want to be happy? Let me tell you why because happiness is the inner core of pure joy that makes us smile, gives us hope, passes joy to others and it lets us face life with a rejuvenated and positive outlook. If happiness was measured by money then it stands to reason that the wealthiest people would be the happiest of all, but I'm sure we all know that that is not true. If we look at the lives of rich and very famous people you can see something is missing, suicides, divorces, drug abuse and so much more plague their lives. Yet you can take a look at a poor family and the husband and wife that could be married until one dies, so how come people with so little can be so happy? It's simple they see the value of each other and not the size of their bank balances. You see in Divineology we believe that happiness comes from accepting yourself, being content with what you have, giving to others and passing that happiness onto others. You see I always say you can't give what you don't have and if you don't have happiness in you can't pass it on to others. When we start to see the value of each other, the value in each other, accept and appreciate each other then and then only do we open the doors of happiness in our lives and that happiness will be the key to others opening the doors of happiness in their lives, that's another important philosophy within Divineology. When you have an abundance of happiness you will pass it on and make that happiness a contagious epidemic that will infect all those you come into contact with and let that be one epidemic for which you will want no cure, so let's infect each other, those around us and those we will come into contact with. Let's be happy and make this world a happy place for all to live in. Remember happiness is a choice if want to be happy then be happy.

Chapter 18

Do or Don't

In the movie Pain and Gain we see a segment in which Mark Wahlberg's character goes to a motivational seminar and his outlook on life changes, but if you watch that segment closer it's what the motivational speaker says that's so important, he says you are either a "doer" or a "don'ter". Just have a look at where you are now, have you made that decision to do something or have you just let things pass you by and you accept everything as it is. Remember this world and everything herein is never going to change itself it's up to us to initiate that change. We all might think to ourselves what can I do, it's true a one-man army can never win a war but one man in an army can change the outcome of that war. In Divineology you are never alone, everyone in it comes together for the greater good, it's the good that will see you grow, you realize you are part of a caring family, that your input matters and that you are the difference maker. This can't and won't ever happen as long as you don't do anything, we must move pass the psychological block in our minds that limit us, because let's face it we are only limited by ourselves, if you think big you do big things and so too if you think small you do small things. Wouldn't you like to look back on your life and see that it was used for a greater good instead of nothing and that good sees your children, sees you, sees the animals and environment benefit only because you chose to take a stand and do something? Picture this your child gets hurts and requires urgent attention what happens, you DO something and that DO involves you taking your child to the hospital or a doctor for treatment but if you just leave your child and DON'T do anything the consequences of those actions could be devastating. So, the DO is so important but it's important to remember the DO must always be a good DO and never at any time put anyone or anything in harm's way. Let's DO the DO and stop being a people who does the DON'T. Your actions today will define tomorrow, so do the change and change the don't, remember you will be judged by your actions and not by your words. Actions always speak louder than words.

Chapter 19

The Divine Metamorphosis

When you discover Divineology something amazing happens, you transform, just like we see in nature when a caterpillar becomes a beautiful butterfly or you see that seed from nothing becomes a living plant or tree. But just as there are steps in the metamorphosis in nature, so too are there steps in Divineology. They are just 3 easy steps:

The Realization

This is the first step its where you realize that you want to be reborn and take on a new life and a new perspective to life. You don't want to just exist you want to live, you want your life to count for something.

The Acceptance

This is where you accept Divineology as your new religion of life. You see in you so much that you have never seen before and you realize you need to walk a new road in life, a road that will lead you to be the best you can be.

The Commitment

This is where you make a commitment to Divineology and to everything that it stands for, you will honor it, make it part of your life and in turn use it to change the lives of all you come into contact with. This commitment is a very serious one so when you do it do it with your whole heart, hold nothing back, give all of you and as you will see just as you have given all of you so to will all of Divineology be given to you. Make this a commitment for life and be an Ambassador for Divineology, let others see you and want to be just like you.

Chapter 20

Creating the Habit

A habit is described as a settled or regular tendency or practice, especially one that is hard to give up. You see the last part is so important, hard to give up. You see in Divineology we want to cultivate habits in our people, and they might be seen as small but the impacts of these habits are far reaching. Here are a few we consider to be important:

Hello

Good Morning

Good Afternoon

Good Evening

Good Night

How Are You?

Please

Thank You

I'm Sorry

I Love You

I Forgive You

I Accept You as You Are

These are just basic habits take a look at your life and add what you think is important to you. How many of us greet people with a big smile, how many of us say please, thank you, I'm sorry, I love you, I forgive you, they may seem small but their impacts are huge and if we were talking about this in bomb terms, I would say it's thermonuclear. So, in Divineology we are going to go back to basics and we will use the above in our daily lives, we will show people the goodness that it cultivates within us and that we love and respect all those around us. So, say something small that has a big impact and you will see the impact it has on those that you love, those that you meet and those that you are yet to meet and mostly how good it makes you feel. Remember saying something nice is always better than saying something bad or insulting; we always want to uplift the spirits of those who are with us and those who we are going to come into contact with. Let me say this to you I LOVE YOU

I don't know you yet but I LOVE YOU.

Chapter 21

The Unification Principle

You know when I was growing up as a child, I use to see an inscription on the coins of the country at that time and it read as follows “Eendrag maak mag,” I could never understand what that meant and one day asked my dad what that meant and he said to me it meant “Unity is Strength”. I thought to myself why would anyone want to put this on money and what effect would it have on the people that saw it. Many years passed after that and only then did I begin to see its significance. The apartheid government of the time did this so that all the privileged people of the time would see that as long as they stood together they would be a force to be reckoned with and it had a second function it had a psychological reinforcement purpose if you had any doubt all you had to do was look at a coin or the money you had and it was reinstalled in you what the power of unity was. Across the world governments use icons or symbols which advocate unity, another quick example would be the American $1 bill who at its center has the countries first President the Legendary George Washington who is recognized throughout this great nation as the sign of Unity and Trust. Do you see what I'm getting at here Unity serves such an important purpose that even governments use it to instill patriotism within their citizens. I'm sure most of us know the story of the sticks. If you don’t, here’s the short version if you take one stick you can break it quite easily because it’s just one and naturally you have the strength to break it, but now take twenty or thirty sticks, put them all together and then try breaking them, wow, that’s near impossible now and why because combined they are virtually unbreakable, so you see what happens when people stand together they are mighty, but someone standing alone can be easily overpowered. In Divineology we want all our members to stand together as one and in that Unity will lie our strength, when one of us fall there must be ten others there to pick that person up, you will never have to walk alone again, because with you will walk everyone that loves you and cares for you, they will always understand your value, look at you for the person you are and not your background like regular society does. You are after all Divine. In Divineology our strength will always lie in our Unity and through that Unity we will overcome anything and everything. Unity is our strength.

Chapter 22

Familyhood

Fatherhood

Motherhood

Brotherhood

Sisterhood

Just have a look above and you will see words you are all too familiar with but have you noticed one thing, father, mother, brother and sister what does that all make up. It's a family and yet the word Familyhood does not officially exist and why is that? If you take an alternator, water, pump, fuel pump, gear box, steering column and so on what does that make up? I'm sure we all know it's a vehicle. You see we have created many collective words that describes just one thing, yet arguably for the most important thing we as people have not created one. Let me ask you this how many times have you ever heard the word "FAMILYHOOD"? Well just to test this I asked random people when I went to the supermarket or doing things where I would encounter people and do you know of all the people, I asked just two people said they think they've had that word before everyone else had not, now that just tells a sad story to me. Family is at the very core of what makes a good society function well, people who are taught good values in life tend to be good people and spread that good around them. So why have we never got into the hood of family. To me I think people take family for granted or they don't truly understand how important it is and how being part of a good family can alter a person's life forever. In Divineology we stress "FAMILYHOOD". Ask anyone who does not belong to a family what that feels like and you will be shocked at what it's like.
In Divineology we are one big family, we have a shared responsibility to each other and we will always work together to make sure we keep our bonds strong and that we do what is always good and beneficial to everyone. Let me stress this every family has its ups and downs and there will be times where we don't agree on things but we must always be willing to listen and see how we can come to a solution in which everyone benefits through LOVE and COMPROMISE. Family is just something so beautiful it fills a void within people that words can't describe. As Divineologists we want to show everyone what family is and how being part of a family can just make you feel like you have never felt before. If you are reading this now and you are part of family but you are made to feel like you are not, then don't despair, don't be sad, all those tears that you have been crying, all the times you had your heart broken just because you wanted to be part of a family but you could not is all in the past, come to your new family, come be part of the new "FAMILYHOOD". In Divineology we want to take what is good is just make it better and we will always want what is best for not only for our fellow Divineologists but for everyone and everything. Imagine how this world would be if we all just showed someone some love and kindness instead of being cruel and unsympathetic. I can't stress how important it is to be in a loving family environment, I just can't, and we are not perfect no one is but if we all pull together, we can do great things. Never ever forget you are great, you are one of a kind, and you are special beyond words. So, if you never had a family, I'm saying this again come home, come to us, be part of something, would you really want to go through life not being part of anything, take a chance and I know you will never regret it. We are all family. Come to your new hood of family and be part of the "FAMILYHOOD".

Chapter 23

Instinctive Humanity

Did you ever take note of how we refer to animals, if someone we know does something really bad, we always tend to say “don’t be like an animal”? We tend to see animals on such a low a level but if we just took the time to look at animals, we will see things that will shock us and if we did certain things that they did it would in fact make us better humans. I’m going to tell you a story now but not made up one a very true story. We had a stray cat, her name was Bianca, and she was such a lovely animal but rather small in terms of size. One day while she was out, she came running back inside the flat we stayed in and ran to the wardrobe and hid there, naturally we were concerned as to what had scared her this much, after looking around outside I discovered what had scared her so much. It was a new stray male in the area, but he was enormous, when I saw him, I had to look twice to take in his size. He became the vein of her existence and whenever he was around, she would run into the flat and not leave. Not long after he came onto the scene Bianca fell pregnant and had a litter of five kittens. When I saw how she cared for them it blew my mind, for about three days just after they were born, she never left them, she did not eat or drink anything during those days. It was only on the fourth day she went to eat and drink. The kittens grew very fast and not long they had reached four weeks. Just to clear things up the white giant male cat was not the father of the litter. It was December 01st 2017 and my wife and kids went out with a family member and I was left alone at home. It was about 11.00am that I decided to go for a shower. I got in put soap all over me when all of a sudden, all hell broke loose, I just heard screaming and a huge fight was underway. I had forgotten to close the door but I had locked the burglar proof steel gate. The big white male cat had made his way through the bars and I would think that he wanted to kill the kittens to bring Bianca back into estrus. I’ve seen that with Lions so I thought it to be the same with cats. The only thing that stood between the kittens and certain death was their mother, for a little while she had been terrified of this white cat, but when it came to protecting her litter, her fear did not matter, all that mattered was protecting her litter with her life if it came to that. I immediately grabbed my towel rushed out of the shower all soapy and when I got to the lounge, I saw what was in play, a colossal fight. Bianca was on top of this white cat and fighting with everything that she had in her. I moved closer and separated the two; the white cat after taking a few hard shots from me ran out of the flat. Bianca stood there shaking and breathing heavily, I gently picked her up and re-assured her everything was good by holding her for a while, thereafter she returned to her litter and proceeded to feed them. I closed the door and went back into the shower and while I was there, I could not stop marveling at what she had just done, here was a cat a quarter the size of that white cat but she fought as though she was four times his size, she was willing to sacrifice her very life to ensure that her kittens were not harmed. That was just mind blowing to me. All this was made possible by her instinct to protect no matter the cost. What is instinct if you Google it you will get this explanation "an innate, typically fixed pattern of behaviour in animals in response to certain stimuli." I just think simply put its being born with a pre-programmed ability that allows you to act in a certain way depending on the circumstances presented. Animals in general will never harm their own offspring in any way but instead will go to any length to ensure their survival. Now let's look at us, how far do we go for our offspring, how far do we go to protect them, care for them and make sure that they will survive? If we look at the rates of violence towards children it has grown at an alarming rate. Why is this? Why have we turned our backs on the very beings we have brought into this world? Always remember that child never asked to be here, it's us who created them and we have a responsibility to love and care for them, to protect them, to provide for them and most of all just love them. They are not asking for much, but it seems that in today's world, providing that is becoming a burden. Children suffer most at the hands of those who are supposed to be protecting and loving them. I wish as humans we were born with Instinctive Humanity, a pre-programmed ability within us that would see us just love, care, protect and provide for our children, that is why we want Divineologists to be instinctive when it comes to their children, we want to imprint in the minds of everyone that our children are to be protected, cared for, provided for and loved. It must become second nature to you, there must not be a thought about doing it, and it must just come naturally. When you see that beautiful innocent life that you brought into this world, it must just be within you to do everything that you can to make sure that, that child has a great life. Always remember as a Divineologist you will never stand-alone you will always have a community around you who will always be there for you. Remember LOVE is big in Divineology, it's something that is truly Divine and words can never truly describe what LOVE truly is, because it's a feeling that is beyond words. So, I want all Divineologists to have that instinct within them, just remember Bianca, she was no match for that white cat but she was willing to die just to keep her kittens safe, that is something found throughout the animal kingdom and it's something we as humans must incorporate into our lives. So, the next time you look at your child or children take the time to appreciate what you have there every day, tell yourself how much you love that child and how much you would do for that child. I know life gets very busy and we can lose track of things very easy, so just take a minute or two when you get up look at your child and tell yourself how much you love that child and how much you would do for that child. Always say "I LOVE YOU" that means more to a child than anything else, always remember follow up those words with actions, because words without action mean nothing. So, let's all work together for our children, after all they are the future and if they are nurtured properly the future will be a bright one. LOVE begets LOVE never forget that.

Chapter 24

Remembering the Forgotten

When I looked up the meaning of the word forget on the internet, I got the following explanations:

Fail to remember

Inadvertently neglect to do or mention something

Deliberately cease to think of

I want you to take another look at those explanations do they in some way evoke a feeling or an emotion if it does is it good or is it one of guilt? Over time people who were different from us were seen as outcasts or we generally just forget about them because they don't fit into our social circles or they are just seen as a nuisance. Are you who is reading this now an outcast? We have to start asking ourselves why these people are being forgotten. Let's do this let's look at who these forgotten people are I'm going to list them:

The Poor

The Disabled

The Handicapped

The Old

How many us just don't like the sight of poor people because when we see them coming on, we normally expect them to ask for something and this in society is seen as such a nuisance, imagine if the roles were reversed and you were the one who had nothing to eat at home, you had no money to buy anything. What would you then do? Wouldn't you also resort to some means to remedy this? So many people say "why don't you just get a job", what do you then do when you have exhausted all avenues and means to acquire employment but they have all failed? These people are at a low which all of us who have never been there just could never imagine. Look I know I must mention here there are people who are truly suffering here and those who use the poor thing as a means of scamming people and these people have made life for the true poor people a nightmare because the general conception created from this is that all these poor people are just no good scammers who want to do nothing for themselves and are expecting free handouts. We really need to change our mindsets and stop being so judgmental, if we just took the time to talk to that person, show them some humanity that alone would mean so much; instead they are greeted by vulgarity and abuse. How many of you poor people reading this now can relate to this and how did you feel when this happened or when it continues to happen? You see the people perpetrating these acts will never be able to feel what you feel. In Divineology we learn to listen and to open our hearts to people, to treat them like the Divine beings that they are no matter how poor they are. You always deserve to be treated with the utmost respect and unconditional love, if you are poor and have been marginalized then come, come to where that will never happen again come home to Divineology.

Now let's look at the other three, the disabled, the handicapped and the old. Here again we see a similar trend because people are different treat them differently. Why? Why? Why? Why? With these three you might find that the people who treat them the worst are often their own families. That to me is always so shocking. What happened to family values and always being there for ones we love? You see we must redefine what family values are and make them conducive to the people that we love and when I say love I mean truly love, because if you truly love someone you will do anything for them. Also, people outside the family can be very insulting towards these people and again, why? It's time we started to change our perceptions and then our trains of thought, let's start to see them as beautiful people being no different from us.

You know my great grandmother was put into an old age home and this was due to her requiring very specialized care. While visiting her there I began to chat to the other old people that were there and what I discovered with many of them was shocking beyond belief, their families left them there and just never bothered with them, I saw so many of them break down, tears fall from their eyes as though a dam wall had burst. You know these people had children who they had raised and sacrificed so much for over time but that meant nothing, if we look at life its always called the circle of life so your parents looked after you so in turn should you not look after your parents? The excuse many use today is “You had your life Now it’s time for me to live mine” no one is saying don’t live your life but remember who took care of you, who raised you and who got you to where you are now. A little of your love and time would go such a long way; time is always so short so make the time that you have count.

Let us as a people eradicate this scourge of forgetting those who are different from us, no matter how a person is as long as their intentions are good, they are honest and they will never cause any harm to anything or anyone then treat them with the same love respect and love you would show to someone that was dear to your heart.

The Love in Divineology knows no boundaries or limits of any kind I invite you to come experience it.

The Voice

I want you to picture this, you are in a house and you hear a window break you go and have a look and you see someone is breaking into your home, you run upstairs grab a phone dial the emergency services and you can't speak. The operator is just on the other side offering you help but you don't have the voice to speak out, as you are on the phone you hear the burglar making his way towards you and you can imagine as he gets closer the more terrified you get, the operator is continuously asking you can they help but because you can't speak out, it's just as good as you not making that call and before you know it the burglar gets to you and I'm sure you can only imagine what follows that. Now I want you to picture the same situation, you hear the glass break, you run upstairs you hide away with the phone in hand you dial emergency services, the operator picks up asks how they can help, you can't speak still you are feeling so lost and then a family member rushes to you takes the phone from you and tells the operator someone has broken in and you require immediate help, the operator notifies the police, they rush to the house, the burglar hears them but just as he tries to get away he's apprehended. Now what was the difference between the two the situations? It's quite simple someone spoke for you when you could not, the voice made the difference. Look at most us we have voices but what do we use our voices for? Let me ask you this what do you use your voice for? Is it just there with no purpose or are you one of that people that raises your voice and makes a difference? Look around you there are people, animals and the environment who cannot speak out for themselves and since they cannot who then does speak for them, who is going to courage up, take a stand and say I'm the voice of that defenseless animal, I'm the voice of this forest that is going to be destroyed, I'm the voice of these people who are being treated less than human. Are you going to be that voice or are you just going to sit idle while many atrocities are being committed and just because you are not being affected by it, it means you don't have to do anything? Let me tell you this if a stand is not taken now it will never be taken, it's time we stop sitting idle while things happen around us, it's time we raised our voices in unison and say "I'm going to speak for you don't worry you are not alone anymore". There's nothing worse than feeling helpless and alone, it's a feeling that makes many just wish for death, when life is supposed to be so beautiful and enjoyed by all. In Divineology we are the voice and we will speak out, we will never do this violently or break the law in doing it but we will do it in a civilized and just way. We want to be the example that everyone follows and we want people to see that when we speak in unity, we can truly move mountains. So, if you feel like want to stop being idol and you want to use your voice to speak out, you want your voice to be part of something then come and join us and let your voice be the voice that makes the difference, speak for those who cannot speak for themselves and show how your voice has the power to do things big and small and remember sometimes the smallest things can make the biggest difference. If this has touched, you in anyway and you feel it gives you the drive to want to do something then I invite you to come and join Divineology come to your new family and know that you will always be welcome. You are family and family always takes care of each other.

Chapter 26

The Divine Purpose

Life and everything therein has a purpose and purpose gives something a function and that function gives it meaning. Just look at your daily life you will see everything has a designated purpose or function, the purpose or function of your vehicle is to get you from place to place, with a stove it's to cook or bake and so you get the meaning. Now I want you to take a deep look at yourself and ask this, have you found your true purpose? Just take a good look at your life and answer that honestly, for me for so long I thought I had found mine, but when I did some deep introspection, I found I had not found my true purpose and this got me thinking what is my true purpose? You see, until you realize that you can only be whole if you give a piece of yourself, you will never find your true purpose. That must sound so silly how can be giving of yourself make you whole shouldn't that instead make you less of a person? You see from small we have developed a mathematical mindset and it seems to work on a conscious and sub-conscious level. It always tells us giving away leaves us with less and to an extent that is true when we consider money or any items that we have but when it comes to giving of ourselves that is where it does not work. Take a look at your life since you were small you started making friends, you had a boyfriend/girlfriend, you got married became part of a new family, you see the need to be with people forms the heart of being human, we were never meant to be alone and being with people resulted in us being there for them, helping them through bad times, laughing when there're good times, you see we were evolving our purpose and with time that purpose changed. So, you see your purpose went from a general purpose to a Divine Purpose; you impacted on the life or lives of people in ways that cannot be measured by any monetary means. You see there are things in this world that are more important than money and it's the human touch, the touch that lets you change the life or lives of everything around you. You see sometimes the smallest of gestures can have the biggest impact. In Divineology we look at purpose as being Divine because it can change the outcome of another person's life and that person can, in turn, do the same for someone else, do you see the effect of what starts to happen, you start a ripple that radiates and just spreads, for too long the human touch has been lost and that has led to us losing our Divine Purpose. It's time that we rediscover our Divine Purpose, just look at your life now, have you found your Divine Purpose? Or do you look at yourself and realize something is missing and you need to find that something that completes you, to make you whole. I'm saying this again when you have purpose you have a function and that function gives meaning. It's truly so simple, in Divineology, through bringing back the human touch, we will help redefine your purpose, show you your new function and give your life that new Divine Purpose that has been lacking for so long, never forget that you are divine, you are a divine being and when you have a Divine Purpose it impacts on your life, those around you, the environment you in and everything that you touch. A Divine Purpose will lead to your life having a Divine Meaning.

Chapter 27

Conclusion

Time is in your hand and in mine so let's join hands and make time count.

Life is the most precious gift of all, it should always be treated with respect and cherished, but sadly in this day and age, the value attached to it is really nothing. Until we start to re-think and change, life will continue to mean nothing. Are you different and do you long for a change, do you want to be part of the change and do you want to be the change, well now you can, you make the difference and be the difference? We can make this world such a beautiful place for all to live in, it's not going to be an overnight process, but it can be done, it starts with you and I.

So, if you have been ridiculed because you are different, have a different sexual orientation, look different are from a different background, race and so on then come to where you belong where you will never be judged, but accepted for who you are as long as your intentions are good and that you will never cause harm or injury to any of those around you.

Divineology takes the life within in mankind, animals and everything on this planet and treats it as being divine, always to be respected, protected and cherished. It is a theology of all life. Do you share those same sentiments and views? Then Divineology is for you, be part of something that's going to not only change your life, the lives of those around you, but the lives of everything that inhabits this planet, let's all start to work together to make this world a better place for us all. Remember this you are the difference, be it and make the difference.

Remember this you will be judged by your actions and not by your words. What will your actions be? Will you look back and be happy that you were that one person who decided to do something or will you look back with regret and think back to what you could have done but you did nothing. Time is so precious a moment lost is a moment gone forever. Think and take action let that be an action that you look back on and say it made not just the difference but the ultimate difference. Let your actions speak for you and let them define you.

The Rethink

I want you to look at that pic, look at it very carefully, does it make you think about something or evoke a certain feeling or feelings within you, to me it did, you know the old saying a picture is worth a thousand words, well this pic is worth a million to me. We are at the 11th hour now so much time has passed us by and in all that time without realizing it we have steadily regressed with all our amazing advancements. Life's value has diminished and as a result, everything has suffered. It's truly time to rethink time is running out and if we don't take a stand now the future is in serious jeopardy. Don't we all want peace, harmony, and goodwill in this world? Well, we can have it but it starts with you and I, just a little change and change in thought can go such a long way. So, let us stand together and together let's build a new way forward, the 11th hour is upon us and before the 12th hour comes lets us rather build prosperity, love, and hope instead of despair, hopelessness, and doom. This planet is dying if we look at the great minds of our time and that have passed on, we will see that they all agree the time is going to come when this planet will be no more habitable because of all the plundering and damage caused by our never-ending greed. Let's face this scary and undeniable fact, we just don't have anywhere to go we just don't, so we as a nation of one people on this planet must come together, stand together and make the decision to save this planet or else in the end future generations will be doomed. The clock is ticking every day we don't take a stand and do something we take ourselves slowly to that point of no return. So, I'm asking you this now don't you want to be part of the greater good that will not only save this planet but everything that resides in it, don't you? If you are lets band together from all corners of the world, let us stand in unity and with strength and let's do something. Like I said before doing nothing is just as good as doing harm, doing something even if very small will make sake a huge difference. So are you ready to take that stand, take that nest step and be the difference, if you are then let us join together and do this for us and everything that inhabits this world, it's our world after all, so let's again make it a great world for all. The time to do something is now not tomorrow or the next day but now, so let's now make that change, take that stand and make this a better world for all. This is for the love of mankind, this world and everything that lives herein, this world is ours let's make it a great world for all to live in.

PART 2

The Book of Life

The Divineology Handbook

Revision 2

Introduction

For any religion or organization to flourish people must have a good understanding of it and know what it offers and how it will impact their lives in only a good way. This book will give you insight on how it works, what is celebrated within it and what the constitution is that makes it up. Knowledge is power that is such a famous saying and it's proven the more knowledge one has on something the better the decisions we can make with being part of it or deciding that, that is not journey they would like to embark on. Divineology is not something for today or tomorrow it's for the future. Would you agree with me when I say life is the most precious gift and we should all respect it and understand its value? Life over time has truly lost its value and people are killed on a daily basis for the most insignificant of reasons. If we go further, we will see this extends to animals and the environment. The cruelty that animals face on daily basis is not warranted, the manner in which the environment is being destroyed in the name of profit is heartbreaking, and the effects here are devastating and far reaching. Isn't it time we just stopped, took a look around and realized this can't go on, we must start being accountable or else in the end humanity and this world will reach a point of no return and that a point we would not want to get to. That why Divineology is so different, it takes into account humanity, the animals of this world and the environment. It's a holistic religion of life that recognizes that mankind is at the forefront of life and it is responsible for this world. So, come with me and let me take you deeper into your journey of Divineology. Remember you are the difference.

The Structures within the Religion

If you look at any religion of organization, you will see a structure that exists and it's there to ensure that everything's runs smooth and efficiently and it's there to deal with any obstacles. In order for any religion or organization to survive it must adapt and progress.

The Divine Guardian

This is the leader. His duty is to ensure that everything runs smoothly, that the integrity upheld and values of the religion are always installed in all those who follow it. He can also choose a successor if he feels he can no longer perform his duties or if he passes and no successor has been chosen the Divine Council will be left to choose one, it will be done democratically by 5 candidates being elected. All the chosen candidates will state why they think they should run the religion, all the members within Divineology will then vote and the candidate with the most votes will be the next successor. If the Divine Guardian chooses a successor, then the voting system will not come into effect.

The Divine Assistant

The Divine Assistant serves alongside the Divine Guardian, he or she is the personal assistant to the Divine Guardian and will take care of everything that pertains to the Divine Guardian. The Divine Assistant is personally selected by the Divine Guardian as he or she will know what candidate best suits the position to what might be required by them. This is a very prestigious position as the selected candidate will be in direct contact with the Divine Guardian on a daily basis and help ensure that he keeps everything running smooth as clock work.

The Divine Commissioners

The Divine Commissioner's will comprise of 3 pairs of individuals who will handle the primary portfolios within the institution. They are namely:
Human Affairs
Animal Affairs
Environmental Affairs
The selected candidates will be knowledgeable and well versed so as to ensure that these portfolios are run smoothly and effectively. They will co-ordinate things at the highest level and keep the Divine Guardian abreast on what's happening. Issues to be tackled will be crucial and viable as to always ensure a favorable outcome. The Divine Commissioner's will also help in drawing up the constitution of the religion; Divineology after all is the Religion of Life.

The Regional Divines

The Regional Divines will serve under the Divine Commissioners and will answer directly to them; they will co-ordinate at state or provincial level. They will be up to 4 to 8 candidates per state, province or region but are selected at the discretion of the Divine Commissioner's. The right person should always get the right position.

The Community Divines

They will run things at community or suburban levels and under them we will have the general assembly who are the serving members of the religion. Things at community level are so important as they form the basis of operations for the entire religion. Community Divines are selected by the general assembly who are the ground based executive responders of the religion. The candidate's according to their callings which could either be human, animal or environmental are nominated and a vote is engaged, the candidates with the highest votes are then elected to the positions of Community Divines. These are up to 4 individuals per calling. So basically, up to 4 people can serve in the Human Affairs division and the others. The Community Divines will comprise of a head, assistant head, secretary and a treasurer per division.

The General Assembly

The general assembly is by far the most important people in the religion as they make up the executive responders. They provide the ground-based support that makes everything in the religion function. In Divineology everyone is important; at no point should anyone feel that they are not. If you feel you are being marginalized, please report it to the The Divine Arbitrator.

The Divine Arbitrator

We as humans know that sooner or later disagreements might take place. What we want is to always sort these out in a fair and just way so that the disagreement is resolved and that the parties concerned are happy. For these matters of conflict can be forwarded to the Divine Arbitrator who will engage the parties concerned so that a mutually beneficial resolution is obtained. We also ask that those using the services of the Divine Arbitrator be open and fair and adhere to what is recommended to resolve issues that are causing disagreements.

The Divine Protectorate

The Protectorate is the security division of Divineology, let me say this again, Security Division and not Military, I must stress this so that everyone from the onset can see the difference. Let's face it we live in a world in where crime and violence are part of everyday life and what we want is to always feel safe and secure and this is where the Protectorate filters in. It's the security division of the religion, it will have at its head the Divine Protector, this individual will be responsible for ensuring that members within the religion are kept safe. It will start at base level with the General Assembly who will have Protection Assemblies which are similar to neighborhood watches. All members residing in an area will have the contact details of everyone in that area, they will have what their expertise are or vocations, so if someone is in trouble contact will be made and everyone concerned will mobilize to assist and to provide aid, we want all our members to feel safe at all times. Never forget the Local Authorities are always to be contacted first as they will always have authority of the situation, we serve mainly to assist our members or anyone in the community who might require aid. We are not just here for ourselves we will aid those who require it whether or not they are members of the religion. The Protectorate will co-ordinate and work at the community level to inform everyone therein about who are and what their function is. Security policies will evolve as required. Remember the authorities referred to are the police, ambulance, fire services or any entity from the local authority that has jurisdiction. I'm saying this again they are always in charge and we merely provide support. We will never overstep of break the law in any way or form.

The Divine Reconcilers

This is a very special appointment it is normally given to people who have the necessary qualifications and ability to deal with people and help them on various levels so that any obstacles can be overcome in re-uniting them with their family, friends, or anyone that they are no longer in contact with due the circumstances that lead to that taking place, whether the loved ones are Divineologists or not the end goal will always remain the same, re-unification and making sure that, that will never happen again by providing constant love and support to all those concerned. Like I said before family is so important and we want the immediate family and the extended family which here is your fellow Divineologists to always have a harmonious and loving relationship. That's how we are going to build a better community, a better tomorrow and a better future by making the family important again and letting love, kindness, compassion and forgiveness be part of us and not just words we use that have no meaning. So, the Divine Reconcilers will be responsible for ensuring that these goals are attained.

The Divine Family Enrichment Centre

This center is dedicated to enriching family life. Like I always say family is so important and we must we keep the bonds and love amongst family members so strong. We must never ever see anything ever dividing a family. That's why in Divineology if any member of your family members are not members they will never ever be separated from you, I stress this never they can feel free to join in on any activities or events without feeling ever obligated to join. It's this centers mission to ensure that family are enriched and most importantly that they stay together. They will initiate programs for the enrichment of family unity and offer assistance to the Divine Reconcilers when required.

The Divine Education Enrichment Centre

"Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world" by Nelson Mandela.

Wow did that touch you like it did me, nothing changes a person life like a good education and in Divineology we stress the importance of a good education and we want to be in a position where we can help those members who require it to acquire a good education. This Centre will be in charge of raising and channeling funds for the sole purposes of education. The education will cover young girls, women, the under privileged, adolescents, elderly and the disabled. In a lot of sectors young girls and women are marginalized when it comes to a good education and this will never happen in Divineology we will always strive to empower young girls who will become powerful women.

The Divine Fun Committee

What is life without fun and we want everyone in Divineology to have and to always be happy that's why we are probably a very unique religion that has a Fun Committee. I don't know of any religion in the world that has one. This committee has one function and that is to devise fun programs and activities that is going to make Divineology so much fun that you are going to love every second of being in it. We all want to be happy and having fun just makes everyone so happy.

The Divine Animal Outreach Centre

If there's one thing that makes me so sad it's to see how cruel people can be to animals. These beautiful creatures be it in the wild or domesticated are exposed to hurt and cruelty that just boggles the mind as to how people can commit such atrocities. This center will be involved in rescuing, caring and treating animals. All they want is just a little love, time and care.

The Divine Environmental Care Project

Just look at the world and you will see that the environments across the worlds are being decimated at rates which does not allow them to replenish. If we don't make a concerted effort to educate and to help protect environments across the world they are going to be lost to us forever. This project committee will do just that they will have education projects and they will help protect environments without breaking the law. We stress this because breaking the law never leads to anything good it always has a negative impacts on efforts to do well.

Days of Honor

The Day of Life

This in Divineology is the Birthday. The day you were born is essentially the day your life started. It is a glorious and special day and should always be celebrated. This is done with friends, family or whoever you invite to this joyous occasion. Life is for living and this day just adds to your growth, your maturation and allows everyone you care about and who you care about to have a glorious celebration in which all the attention is focused on you. So, here's too many Days of Life.

The Day of Passing

This is the day a beloved family member, friend or someone of special significance has passed. It is indeed a sad day and it affects one so deeply, but I want you to have the comfort of knowing that the separation is only temporary, we will all meet in the life beyond, so in the meantime what we will do is honor the day that someone special and divine left us. There is no hard and fast way of doing this, as we are all different, we will honor that person in a way that we see fit to. Let's remember the good times even the bad, the moments that made us laugh, the moments that made us cry, but in the end, let's just honor and keep the memories of that person alive.

Family Day

In this day and age with the advancement of technology we find ourselves caught in a technological web and this keeps us away from doing something so simple and that is having a good conversation or spending quality time together. In Divineology the family structure is so important; it goes to the core of building a good individual and a good community. We have to take the time to acknowledge each other and to always let each other know how much we mean to each other and no matter what happens it's always faced together. Never forget this in Divineology we are one big happy family and we are always there for each other. Let me ask this when last did you tell your kids you love them, or tell parents you love them, or do that to a brother or sister, for some us it must be so difficult to answer that. But what does it truly cost to do that and the answer is simple, it doesn't cost a thing. So, if it's free why not willingly give it. In Divineology the first Saturday or Sunday whichever you prefer is Family Day. It's where the family gets together, enjoys each other time, share what's happened during that week and always tell each other how much each one means and say those three important words, I LOVE YOU. That is always so beautiful and I think we don't say it enough, don't wait for Family Day, say it every day and you will see the impact that it has on you and everyone in that family. Also on Family Day I suggest you have a day of Honor, on your first Family Day honor your parent or parents, the next one your brother and the next one your sister, this is merely a suggestion you do it the way it bests works for you, but I think it will make it that much more special and once you have done that you just go back to making the day Divine and amazing for everyone. Never forget this you are amazing.

Remember you can do anything on Family Day you mould it to what works for you, make it fun get input from everyone and another thing Family Day is a tech free day so no cell phones, no laptops, no tablets and so on it's all about bonding. I would suggest tell everyone about the day and ask them to contact you only in case of an emergency. So, to you and your Divine Family have a great Family Day.
Please note family is everyone you deem it to be and is not limited to your immediate family.

Animal Appreciation Day

Animals are so precious and so loving; they look to us for love, kindness, protection and nurturing. They serve us so faithfully and in the case of dogs they will sacrifice their lives for their owners, it just does not get more selfless than that. Animals just brighten up our day; they fill that special void that only they can fill. So, the second week of the month namely the Saturday or Sunday is Animal Appreciation Day. Do something special for your animal show them how much you love and appreciate them. You can do this by yourself, involve other Divineologists, friends, family, you choose. Remember the best thing you can give your animal is your time and love. Fortify that bond; let's show them how much they truly mean to us.

Environment Appreciation Day

When last have, you looked around and just enjoyed the beauty and splendor of Mother Nature. A little bird in the tree, a butterfly flying by, a squirrel taking an acorn, it just goes on and on. Nature is so beautiful and is always worthy of our admiration, but the environment is sadly being destroyed and the impact on mankind in the future is going to be devastating, but if we just took the time to see the little things and how amazing they are we will soon have an appreciation of the bigger things. So, the third week of the month namely the Saturday or Sunday is Environment Appreciation Day. Look around you and become immersed in Mother Nature, without the Environment where would we be? get friends together, fellow Divineologists, invite a stranger, family, just educate each other and enjoy the world that we live in. Make the day what you want it to be.

The Gathering

The gathering takes place on the last Sunday of the month and it involves all Divineologists in an area to come together. The purpose of this is for everyone to get to know each other well, for new members to be welcomed and for prospective members to gain insight into Divineology. This event can be handled in different ways and could include a large lunch, picnic or anything that would make it fun and enjoyable. Let's face it there's no better way to enjoy a day than with good food and good company. It's about showing each other how much we care and showing prospective members the unity, love, kindness and caring that are in those who practice Divineology. The gathering will be co-ordinated by the Community Divines. They will in turn relay to the General Assembly. I wish you all a Happy Gathering.

If at any time you would like the Divine Guardian to attend a Gathering you may lodge a request with the Divine Assistant and depending on how busy the Divine Guardian is it will be tried to honor that request.

The Divine Network

There's nothing better than people helping people. In Divineology we are going to establish a network system in which people will leave their details, state what they specialize in or in what capacity they can help, this network will be available to all Divineologists so if there's someone who requires assistance in any way or form, they can turn to the network support structure. An example of this would-be John Smith, Mathematics Teacher, Grades 1 to 5 with the relevant contact details. So, if anyone has kids who are battling with mathematics, they then can access the network, get hold of John Smith and see how he can help. This will happen with anything so whatever it is you are in big or small we ask please add it to the network; we must learn to start caring about people and offer a helping hand if we can. The network once established will be able to be accessed via the internet, cell phones, tablets and so on. In life, there are those also who are less fortunate and we want to establish a means of making life comfortable for them. The network will also include animals and the environment, they also require our attention so we will integrate and delegate with what requires attention. Let's make the network work for people, the animals and the environment. It's for us by us to benefit us and anyone who requires it. The Divine Network will also make itself available to non Divineologists and they may volunteer without any obligation of joining the religion.

The Divine Hands

One thing that will never happen in Divineology is you being forced to part with your hard-earned money, we have seen this all too often in groups or cults, people must give up what they earn or they are drained financially over a period of time. This is a big big NO NO in Divineology. If you feel you want to donate then please feel free to do so, money collected will be used for the good of the institution and a statement detailing expenditure will be published regularly so the institution's finances are transparent to everyone.

Just remember please no one at any time is allowed to extort money from you or pressure you into giving, you must do that of your own free will and be happy that you are doing what you are comfortable with.

Giving will allow the Divine Hands to reach those in need and aid them in the best way possible, our hands are truly tools of such let's use it for the betterment of everything we are involved in.

Hands are such amazing things, have you taken the time to appreciate the work that tour hands do? If you haven't then I want you just to consider this what would happen if you lost both your hands right now? Wow now that's really scary isn't it; you won't be able to do the most basic of things. Hands can do a lot of bad things we have seen this all too often, but in Divineology we want our hands to do good things, hold, hug, show affection, show compassion, nurture things, grow things, pick people up when they are down you see what I'm getting at hands are truly Divine when used for good, so I encourage you do something good with your hands and show everyone that your hands are truly Divine. Remember giving of your time with love always means so much more than money.

The Rule of Law

Each country has its own laws and those laws must be respected and adhered to even if you don't agree with them. Too often we see organizations, groups and institutions coming into confrontation with the law, what happens in most cases people are arrested or injured and the reason for the entire cause is lost. I know we might have disagreements but they should always be handled in a sensible and just manner in which constructive dialogue can be created for the points to be put forward and a reasonable outcome negotiated. Violence and hooliganism has and will never solve any problem it just makes it far worse. We say so many times we are civilized so let's start to behave that way. Life is so precious and so divine so why do anything or engage in any activity that could lead to someone getting hurt or even in the extreme getting killed. There's nothing wrong with protesting or you voicing your dissatisfaction but there's always a way to do it. In Divineology we will always respect the law and work within it to ensure a satisfactory outcome. Respect the laws of the country in which you reside.

The Rule of Family

If there's one thing we are big on in Divineology its FAMILY. You see having a good family is essential to every person as it forms the foundation on what's going to make you by always giving you the support, love, inspiration, kindness and refuge that you require as you are growing up. If you didn't have a family growing up then I want to say to you welcome to your new family in Divineology, we are going to love you, support you, be your refuge and show you the kindness that you have not been shown all the years of your life and all we ask is that you be honest, be truthful and cause no harm to anything or anyone and to always have good intentions. If your family members are not Divineologists you will never be asked to be separated from them never, never, never, in fact we do the exact opposite we encourage all our members to build better and stronger relationships with their family members, if it was good we want it to be great, if its estranged or broken then we are going to re-kindle or rebuild that relationship and we are going to help you with that every step of the way. In Divineology we are going to be a big family, we are going to have our ups and downs but that's life, our strength will lie in our unity and as long as we all stand together there's nothing we will not overcome, so to your family and the new family that you will gain in Divineology I say "Let's do it for each other and everything around us and no matter what happens lets always stay unified, because in good and bad families always stand together"

The Right of Protection

Over time we have seen that in cults or certain organizations women and children have been abused and manipulated. This will never in Divineology, women and children will be protected and measures will be put in place to enforce this. Also, over time women have been marginalized and made to feel that they are inferior to men let me say that's total bullshit, look at the world today women are changing the forefront of the world. There's one thing a woman has that a man will never have and it's the maternal instinct, that to me gives women an edge over man, please don't get me wrong here I'm in no way degrading man I'm saying as men let's see the true potential and value of women. If you look at a child it looks at parents as the protectors, providers and nurturers, they put all their faith in us because they trust us whole heartedly, lets honor that trust and live up to all those expectations, remember that child didn't ask to come into this you created that child so give that child the best you can at all times. In Divineology we will fiercely promote the protection and women and children.

Divine Meetings

Meetings are essential to ensuring that the voices of our fellow Divineologists are heard from the ground right to the top. They will start at community level under the guidance of the Community Divines. The secretary of the Community Divines will then forward minutes and community events to the Regional Divines. The Regional Divines will overlook and if everything is well will forward this to the Divine Commissioners. They will in turn overlook and give guidance, it must be noted that large projects will require approval from the Divine Commissioners as they will be in a better position to see the viability and success thereof. After this has been acknowledged the Divine Guardian will be brought up to date with what has been transpiring.
It must be noted that things will work from the top to the ground also. Policy proposals, projects and events that the Divine Guardian deems important will be sent to the Divine Commissioner's they in turn will overlook things give feedback to the Divine Guardian once everything has been agreed upon it will be relayed to the Regional Divines. They will give further input and will converse with the Divine Commissioner's. Hereafter it will be relayed to the Community Divines who will make everything known to the General Assembly. Once they have been informed the process has been completed. Please note further recommendations from the Community Divines and the General Assemble are warmly welcomed.
We will also have an Annual General Meeting to discuss the state of the religion and this will be agreed upon by the executive which will comprise of the Divine Guardian, the Divine Commissioners, the Regional Divines and the Community Divines.

The Human Touch

What we always want to emphasize in Divineology is that people come first and when you re-ignite the Human Touch everything else benefits, that would be people, animals and the worlds that we live in. We encourage people to give of their time if they have time available and to make a difference in the lives of people, animals and the environment. Here want to reward people for their selfless acts and this we have the awards which are as follows:

The Warming Heart Award

This award is given in all three categories being human, animal and the environment. It's awarded to people who have selflessly given of their time and made a difference in one or all the categories mentioned. People deserve recognition for what they do and in Divineology we always want to recognize the good our members do.

The Divineology Award of Excellence

This award is given to those individuals who have inspired others to join Divineology, this is done by those people seeing the difference Divineology has done in your life and they want the same for themselves. There's nothing better than leading by example and we want you to be an example and inspiration to all those who know you and who you come into contact with.

The Divineology Award of Life

This award is given to all those whose actions has resulted in the life or lives of a person/people, animals/animals or environment being saved by their actions directly or by them having influence over the events that would lead to the saving. This is the most prestigious award any Divineologist can achieve after all what's better than saving a life.

The Aim and Purpose

If something does not have a purpose it has no meaning. Anything without meaning is nothing. The aim is the direction in which you want something to go. When your aim has purpose, the direction has meaning. The world requires urgent attention and there's no other creature but mankind that will decide the fate of this world. How and when do we start? Let stress this it's now, because one-day tomorrow might be too late and we wouldn't want that. Divineology is starting at family level, to bring back the values that make us human and to install in us the fact that all life is Divine, from there it moves to friends, acquaintances and strangers, the more we get people to see value of life the more we can look around and treat everything that lives with the respect that it deserves. Right now, we have lost our humanity, just look around and you will see this world is in the biggest mess it's ever been in and we can make the difference we can make that change and it starts with us and those close to us who we love and care for. Once we cultivate it within us and spread it around, we will start a great change that will herald a new start for humanity and pave the way forward for a future that benefits everything and everyone on this planet. Let's do this together because in unity lies strength and our strength is each other.

Conclusion

Divineology is something so beautiful it's about people making the ultimate difference and that difference will change lives, we need to start caring, we need to pick someone up when they down not kick them some more, it's about second chances, it's about forgiveness, it's about saying I LOVE YOU and truly meaning it's about us being the best we can be to ourselves and others. As a divine community, we will grow and as we grow, we will learn and as we learn we will become so much better, we will be progressive and adapt with the changing times, Divineology is still in its infancy and together we will nurture it and see it become something that we all are so proud of.

So, take that first step and admit that you don't like the world as it is; you want to make a difference you want to be the difference and know that you with others are going to change the course of mankind. A journey of a thousand miles begins with the first step, so are you ready to take that first step, then I welcome you to Divineology, you have taken a step that could possibly be the most important step in your life.
You are not alone now you have a new family and I welcome your open arms, thank you that you have decided to be the difference and make a difference, welcome to Divineology.

Please note the Book of Life will be amended and added to as time progresses.

Yours Divinely
Rajesh Kalan
